For the Advertiser. LINES ON THE DEATH OF LITTLE JOSEPHINE W. BY CADET M. B. W. Alas! thou brightly op'ning bud,

That promised soon to bloom full fair! The hand of death in wanton mood Hath plucked, and left thee wither'd there.

Tis vain to mourn o'er hopes thus fled-Sweet hopes that sleep in voiceless death! Tis vain to mourn thee o'er whose head Hath swept the dread dark angel's breath.

But nature claims yet one fond tear To fall upon the new-made mound, Where the dear child that cheered us here Lies sleeping in the cold-cold ground.

A father's, mother's tenderest care, And friends that watched her couch of pain All could not keep within her there The wasting breath !- No, all was vain!

Time only round our hearts can weave Its sil'vry chain that calms all grief; But that green grave at twilight eve Will still be fresh on mem'ry's leaf.

We lay thee 'neath the old oak tree, The bright stars watch thy last long sleep; And winged angels mournfully About thy grave their vigils keep.

Farewell, dear child! Sleep gently there, Far from the cold world's angry frown! Farewell, our hope! I'll ever wear Thy little heart beside my own.

OBITUARY.

DEPARTED, this life at his own residence in Edgefield District, WILLIAM CULBREATH, in the Seventy-third year of his age. The deceased, was the subject for years before his death, of painful affliction. For a long while, a frame, once robust, had been bowed by disease, and the loss, within a recent period, of a son of his old age, and of the companion of his bosom, for both of whom he cherished the warmest affection, imparted to his latter days a more than full measure of bodily pain and mental anguish. But he bore all this with exemplary fortitude and true Christian resignation.

He was descended of Scottish ancestry whose family gave the name of Scotland to a section of this District near the Saluda River, and some of as neat and comfortable as one could wish. The whom were active participants in our struggle for independence. These were a fine race of menstalwart in body, of strong, vigorous minds, lofty and independent in their bearing, with traces of that high, proud spirit, characteristic of the nation from which they sprang.

The subject of this notice intermarried with *BEERSHEBA ABNEY, a widow of ——ABNEY, and whose maiden name was Pope, a sister of the late SAMPSON POPE of this District, by whom he had two sons and a daughter, two of whom now mourn the loss of one of the best and most devoted of parents.

WILLIAM CULBREATH was one of those rare characters, among the old-school gentlemen of our country, who possessed, without much parade or show, many of the highest and most estimable virtues. He was a most exemplary citizen, neighbor and Christian: whose life presents many striking points for emulation-who lived as one having no regrets for the past, and full of hope for the future—in whose bosom shone so conspicuously the gentle graces of our nature, that it may safely be said be left not an enemy behind him. In all the relations of husband, father, friend, he exhibited an affectionate kindness, a just forbearance, a constant fidelity and a manly frankness, which made him at once the steadfast friend and faithful counsellor of all his neighbors. He was the first to arbitrate and adjust all matters of difference among his acquaintance; and it was seldom that strife, discord and contention failed to give way under the guidance of his prudent counsels. He was essentially and practically a peacemaker. His mission was one of love and friend-ship; and his conduct secured for him the approbation of all good men. "A man he was to all the country dear He was a shining member of the Baptist Church for more than fifty years, and died a communicant and Deacon of Chesnut Ridge Church, within a short distance of his dwelling, of which Church he was one of the founders. As he had lived a Christian of deep piety, performing all his life the works of charity, so in his death the bright faith of the Gospel was beautifully illustrated by the heroic fortitude, the smiling benevolence of soul he exhibited amid his dread hours of suffering and pain.

It is said, that "the good men do, lives after them." How many will continue to bless the memory of this aged father, and hold up before their imagination and the eyes of their children his many striking virtues as guides for the forma-tion and improvement of future character. When a good man thus passes from his earthly pilgrimage it is fit that some tribute should be publicly paid to his many excellencies of character. That here offered to WILLIAM CULBREATH is very far beneath his intrinsic merits-but it may serve, in some de gree, to keep alive virtues, the very remembrace of which must have a salutary effect on the minds of his countrymen.

Died, 8th of June, at her Father's residence in this District, Miss ELIZABETH M. DEAN, aged 16 years and two months. The sufferings of the deceased were of short duration though most excruciating in character, which she bore with the characteristic fortitude of an humble Christian; and though not a member of the Church militant yet, in her last lingering hours she gave abundant evidence that she was going to join the Church triumphant. Her earthly career, though short, was one of marked amiability and morality. Her last moments were spent consoling her parent with the happy thought that she was going to Heaven, where she would greet them, upon their arrival, in company with the holy angels, if they were but faithful to the end. A gloom of sadness will linger about those whom death has bereaved, yet when it is disarmed of its terrors, by the Prince of Peace, the Christian has great reason to praise him who gave, and has taken away.

" And the parents gave in tears and pain, The flower they most did love; They knew they would find her safe again, In the fields of light above."

DAVIS' PAIN KILLER. This will certify, that about four years since, I was attacked with hoarseness at the lungs, a hard cough, and raising blood, with pain in the center of my left breast; I was almost discouraged, but hearing what wonderful success friend Davis met with in curing colds, coughs, pain in the sides, &c., I was induced to give his Pain Killer a fair trial. I was then raising blood from two to three times a day, and had been about six weeks, without cessation. I followed been about six weeks, without cessation. I followed the directions, and to my satisfaction, my cough soon gave way, the bleeding ceased, my pain removed, and now I am enjoying a comfortable degree of health; no pain about me, no cough, no bleeding, and have a good appetite, sleep sound, and find my strength gaining and my flesh also increasing; and now, wheth-er I live home or not. I want acceptable to have the er I live long or not, I want everybody to know what this invaluable medicine, through the blessing of God, has done for me. I have used it with equal success in my family for many other complaints for which it is recommended, and would most cheerfully recommend the above medicine to those who have colds and coughs, especially those of long standing—never be discouraged and say you cannot be cured, until you have given Davis' Pain Killer a fair trial, as I have done.

DENNIS' ALTERATIVE,

Georgia Sarsaparilla Compound!

IS fast gaining popularity at Edgefield C. H. It I is highly approved of by Physicians, and highly recommended by those who have tried it in affections of the LIVER, and in diseases arising from an IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD. The following letter from the Rev. W. A. Mc-Swain will tend to give the public greatly increased confidence in this useful preparation.

NEWBERRY C. H., June 22, 1857. Dr. Dennis—Dear Sir: My wife has been strangely and severely afflicted for several years with what is supposed to be Scrofulous habit of the system—superinduced by a severe attack of Yellow Fever-and after having tried a great number of remedies, some of which were very good, she was induced by your own kind suggestion, to use the Sarsaparilla Compound prepared by yourself,-and this she has found to be the best remedy that has been tried. I am now confident in the hope that under the blessing of God, it will make a final cure. It is certainly a most excellent preparation for all Scrofulous affections.

DEBILITY AND PROSTRATION OF SYSTEM, NERVOUSNESS, PAIN IN BACK AND LOINS, &c., &c. As a remedy for weak and debilitated Females, there are few, if any, equal to BLISS' DYSPEPTIC REMEDY. Its action is prompt and effectual, and unlike nearly all other tonic preparations, such as iron, bismuth, acids, bark, &c., whose action is at-tended with more or less of irritation and excitement to the system, is purely a tonic, and entirely free from any irritating qualities, and, from this fact, is peculiarly applicable to those cases of long continued debility, so frequently met with among females. so frequently met with among females.

It will be remembered that nine out of every ten of those cases of long continued debility, arise from disease of the stomach. Debility, loss of strength, languor and prostration of system, are mere symptoms of disease, a disease which in a great majority of cases, is in the mucus membrane of the stomach, and to this membrane should remedial treatment be directed, that the cause may be removed, and with it the prostration of system.

It is very frequently asked, How long must I take the Remedy? How long will it take to cure me?
These are very hard questions to answer; for the duration of treatment will depend very much upon the patient—her temperament, condition, and state of the system. It should be remembered by every female that the disease which they look upon as "general debility" and prostration of the powers of the system, has been growing upon them perhaps for years, and of course time must be allowed for the system to grow back again into a state of health. The system, under the influence of this Remedy, will very soon recruit itself; but miraculous cures must not be looked for, even if it is Bliss' Dyspeptic Remedy they are ta-MANAGERS, Successors to J. F. Winter, Manager.
Our Lotteries draw in Macon, Georgia, (Small Schemes) every Saturday, and in Savannah, Ga. effects will be experienced in a very short time, yet the restoration to health is always a slow and gradual process, for an entire change has to be wrought throughout the whole system,—the impoverished blood must be improved both in quality and quantity—all suppressed and deficient secretions restored—tone, strength and vigor given to the muscular system—the vervous system braced up; and to bring about all these changes, not only a good remedial agent must be made use of, but time must necessarily be had for the system to bring about such great and important changes. Let these facts be remembered by all pa-tients, whether they take Bliss' Dispeptic Remedy or any other preparation—let it be remembered that time is absolutely necessary to the system in bringing about so much change, and the restoration to health. also be remembered in the taking of this Remedy that there should be a perseverance and regularity, and as much of the auxiliary treatment carried out as cir-> may rest assured that there will be a gradual and steady improvement; the debility and prostration, and the whole category of little pains and aches, pains in the back, loins, face, head, &c., will all gradually subside. I am very frequently inquired of whether it would not be well to take some of the preparations in con-junction with the Remedy. No; take nothing, for you need nothing else; and besides, the preparations of iron, bismuth, &c., would, in a great many cases, produce only an additional irritation of the stomach the very thing that you are trying to get rid of; and not only this, those preparations would do no good, for they would not be taken into the circulation from the closed state of the mouths of the lactael vessels, which I have already described in my previous advertisements. In conclusion, let me once more assure every female, that by a steady and persevering taking of the Remedy, she may have every hope of recove-ry; but unless, when its use is commenced, there be a etermination to take it regularly, I would not advise the trial of it, as neither the proprietor, nor those having it for sale, desire any one to take it unless they sumstances will admit of. If this is done, the patient do so in good faith. 363 Broadway, N. Y.
